Comments on the Rights Protection Mechanism (RPM) Requirements

The definitions for Rights Protection Mechanism (RPM) Requirements open for public comment conclude of

- Rights Protection Mechanism (RPM) Requirements, 6 August 2013
- Revisions to Rights Protection Mechanism (RPM) Requirements, 6 August 2013

As applicant for the geo & community gTLD .WIEN and party affected by the proposed Rights Protection Mechanism (RPM) Requirements dated 6 August 2013 we have discussed the issues coming along with this proposal with stakeholders concerned by it, especially with representatives of the City Administration of Vienna.

To be able to operate the .WIEN gTLD according to applicable law, we need the definitions of BOTH documents be put in place.

It must neither be an exception nor a privilege nor subject to individual contracting negotiations for any registry to deal with RPM restrictions compliant with applicable law.

Sincerely

DI Ronald Schwarzler
