

Dear ICANN,

Dolphin Secure Germany is a new venture which intends to provide a safe and secure age-appropriate Internet experience for children and teenagers.

Procedures and laws in today's global cyber world are not made to protect those most vulnerable: our children. Existing top level domains have been set up without boundaries and age groups in mind. Opening up top level domains creates a great opportunity for ours and many other businesses to present themselves within the online space. It is about time to open up TLDs.

We wholeheartedly support the Expression of Interest (EOI) procedures and hope that ICANN will make this a reality very soon.

Respectfully,

Stephan v. Wrede
