Subj: Please do not support the creation of a XXX domain

Members of the Board

I am closely acquainted with the devastation pornography has on people's lives. It damages marriages, friendships, and the individual who is addicted to the material. There are treatment centers established throughout the United States to help those who are addicted to pornography. Why do we need a special domain to spread the disbursement of this JUNK.

Neither ICANN nor the company urging the establishment of this new domain are arguing that the .XXX domain would clean up the .COM domain and require all pornographers to move to .XXX. The .COM domain is a cash cow for pornographers and they are not leaving it. ICANN has no enforcement powers to make them leave and thus clean up .COM. Pornographers would simply expand to .XXX and maintain their current .COM sites, perhaps doubling the number of porn sites and doubling their menace to society.

Please do not create a .XXX domain. It would only increase the number of opportunities for my struggling friends to gain access to their "substance".

Sincerely,

Christy Gress
